

To Whom It May Concern:

Mike Enders of Benttree Custom Homes was the contractor responsible for construction of our home in the Ranch that was completed in May 2002.

We can't help but "gush" a little when it comes to recommending Mike Enders to construct your home. He is the most conscientious, knowledgeable and professional builder you could hope to find. I can say that based on our experience with 12 houses, four of which were wholly new construction.

We had our home built here in Prescott while we were still living in Denver and rarely visited the site during construction due to distance and overseas business travel. However, Mike took care of every detail, faithfully executed our plans and instructions, and regularly updated us with telephone conversations and photographs.

Mike assembled an outstanding team of subcontractors ranging from foundation specialists (it was a difficult site to build) to a master cabinetmaker. He clearly has an excellent working relationship with these subcontractors and they all have expressed respect for his knowledge, thoroughness and attention to detail. He was on-site everyday overseeing the work and many times I am aware that he directly improved the task at hand. The results have been of a very high quality and speak for themselves.

After completion of our home, Mike has provided prompt and excellent follow-up to any detail that has needed attention or correction. There have been very few such items.

To have Mike as your builder is like having your "second self" on the job. We believe he is the best.

Sincerely,
